Ethics policy and good practices:

Authors' duties

- Originality and plagiarism: The authors of the manuscripts sent to Language Value guarantee that the submitted work is original and that the manuscripts themselves neither contain extracts from other authors, nor contain other fragments from written works that were previously published (by the same authors). Furthermore, the authors confirm the veracity of the data, namely that the empirical data have not been altered to verify hypotheses.
- Multiple Publications and /or repetitive: Authors should not publish articles that repeat the same search results in more than a scientific journal. The simultaneous proposal of the same contribution to multiple scientific journals is to be considered ethically improper and reprehensible.
- List of sources: Authors should always provide the correct indication of the sources and contributions mentioned in the article.
- Authorship: The author should guarantee the inclusion of those individuals who have made a scientifically significant and intellectual contribution to the conceptualization and planning of the work, and have also made a contribution to the interpretation of the results and the writing of the article. In the same line, authors have to be hierarchically organized in accordance to their level of responsibility and their respective roles.
- Access and Retention: If the editors consider it, the authors should make available also the sources or the data on which research is based, so that they can be kept for a reasonable period of time after the publication and possibly make it accessible.
- Conflict of interest and disclosure: All authors are required to declare explicitly that there are no conflicts of interest that may have influenced the results obtained or the interpretations proposed. Authors must also indicate any research funding agencies and / or the project from which arise the article.
- Errors in published articles: When an author in her/his article identifies a significant error or inaccuracy, it shall promptly inform the magazine editors and provide them with all the information required to list the relevant corrections on the bottom of the article itself.
- Responsibility: All the authors accept responsibility for what they have written. The authors commit that they have revised the most up-to-date and relevant materials about the subject matter.
